FACE THE MUSIC!

We are authorized to make the following bet: $10,000 against $7,500, that FRANKLIN PIERCE will be elected President on the 2nd of November, or less amount in same proportion, to accommodate those weak in the faith. Also, $100 each, on New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky, these to be taken together.

FACE THE MUSIC THE RIGHT WAY, AND NO DODGING.

The Courier is daily parsing bets on one State and another, or some combination of States. The bet-hitters offered by the whigs are all on States that voted for Taylor; avoiding carefully the States that voted for Cass. Now, we are authorized to offer a bet that will test the sanity of the Scottites about here, do the point at issue. It's no matter what is thought about this or that State. Who will be elected? That's the question. Here is the offer:

$10,000 THAT FRANKLIN PIERCE WILL BE Elected PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES IN NOVEMBER NEXT.

In order, however, that our whig friends may be accommodated who do not wish to go the $10,000 at a single dash, they are at liberty to bet from $1,000 upwards. It is hoped that they will walk up and "face the music."

WALK UP AND SHOW YOUR COURAGE.

We are authorized to make the following offer to the confident whigs:

1st. A gentleman will bet $500 that no whig can name three States that will vote for Scott; and $500 that he can name six States that will vote for Pierce—the two bets to be taken together.

2d. $500 that no whig can name four States that will vote for Scott; and $500 that he can name eight States that will vote for Pierce—the two bets to be taken together.

3d. $500 that no whig can name five States that will vote for Scott; and $500 that he can name ten States that will vote for Pierce—the two bets to be taken together.

4th. $500 that no whig can name six States that will vote for Scott; and $500 that he can name twelve States that will vote for Pierce—the two bets to be taken together.

Another Banter! For River Men!!

The owner of the Steamer LUNETTE, proposes to dispose of said Steamer for $15,000—which is thirty three per cent. on cost—payable when Pierce is elected President of the U. States.

Here is a rare offer for those who have confidence, and a chance they should not let go by. Don't all speak at once.

Apply on the boat, or at the steamboat agency of Messrs. Moore & Campbell, on Water st., near Wall street.

Inquest, No. 71.

Taken by Coroner C. C. Green, on Friday morning, on the body of Jack Howard, a carpenter by trade. Howard was recently from St. Louis, and had a wife in Pennsylvania.

He was of very temperate habits, and had scarcely drawn a sober breath since he arrived in the city. He was missed from his boarding house last night, and was found dead yesterday morning in Talbot's carpenter shed, in the rear of his shop, on Water street below Ninth.

Verdict—came to his death from interperence and exposure. No marks of violence found on his body.

Inquest, No. 72.

Taken by Coroner C. C. Green, on the body of Anton Tower, about 2 o'clock yesterday evening. Two men were at work cutting a crop away which supported a large sycamore tree on the second bank of the canal, below Twelfth street. Tower was sitting on the log smoking his pipe, when the prop suddenly gave way, throwing him on the lower side of the hill, and passing over him, crushed his skull in front and breaking his neck at the first joint below the skull; fracturing the skull covering the small brain. Verdict—Came to his death by accident.

Tower has a trunk in the possession of it; will please bring it to the Coroner's office.

PARADE OF IRELAND.—We understand that the exhibition of this beautiful painting will close to night. We would advise all who have not yet seen it, to avail themselves of this opportunity. There will be an exhibition this afternoon for the Schools, at the usual hour. Children, in particular, will be not only highly amused, but instructed in witnessing the most successful performance of the young minstrels.

Miss Eliza Logan's Benefit.

A benefit is announced for Miss Eliza Logan at the theatre on next Tuesday night. Hundreds of citizens will be glad of the opportunity to witness the celebrated old comedy of London Assurance, in which Miss L. personates the character of Lady Spenser, and Mr. Logan that of Mark Diddle (his original character). The house will doubtless be crowded on the occasion.

The steamer Old Fellow will be sold again on the 26th inst.—next Tuesday.

There was a large and enthusiastic democratic meeting at the Market house last night. Mr. Guthrie made a very able and effective speech and was heard with profound attention. We were gratified to hear him allude to the subject of Cuba and the outrages of the authorities of that island. It is high time the pusillanimous conduct of this administration in its foreign policy was fully exposed to the American people.

Mr. Knead was called for and made a brief and appropriate address. The meeting was continued some time after we left. The right spirit is awake in the democratic party, and that is a sure omen of victory.

It will be seen by a card in another column that Dr. J. H. Owen has removed his well known drug store from the old premises to No. 68, which is on the same side of the same square.

See the notice of last pocket book in our advertising columns to day.

It will be seen by reference to our amusement column that Madame and Mosa Simon will give a grand concert at Morant Hall on next Tuesday night.

This announcement will be hailed with pleasure by the lovers of music in our city.

We are indebted to the Chancellor for late New Orleans papers.

Well's New York Minstrels announce a concert for Wednesday night, Mr. R. H. Suter, the champion dancer of the world is one of the company.

Portry.—Some gems of thought in the poetical way have found vent through our advertising columns to the public.

"The Cabin and Parlor," on SLAVES and MASTERS," by J. Thornton Randolph.—This book has been placed upon our table by Mr. Ringgold, whose establishment may be found on Third street, near the Post Office. We have not had time to examine its contents, but we are sure it is a well written book, from the high opinion of the press we have seen. The Philadelphia Sunday Ledger of October 9th, has the following:

"The Cabin and Parlor."—We have perused with admiration the picture of the relative position of the master and slave, as it truly exists at the South, with great pleasure, for we have received many a sad and touching story, and can bear testimony to the many benevolent recollections of real life as exhibited in the truthful, humorous, and eloquent description of Southern life.

The New Albany Tribune charges that five hundred votes were imported into New Albany. We admit that they were imported at Madison only gave a little over 2300, and Indianapolis 2303. Deducing the five hundred votes imported into New Albany, it would leave 1800 votes for a popular election, which would correspond with the population, as compared with Madison and Indianapolis. We admit that on paper. Gregg makes a fair show to sustain his charge.—Sentinel.

According to the Tribune, New Albany must be rather declining, contrary to what we had supposed was the fact.

EXTRACTS, Oct. 17, 1852.

Messrs. Horney & Hughes:

On yesterday, according to previous appointment, the Hon. Joshua F. Bell, addressed the citizens of Hardin county at the Court house in Elizabethtown, in a speech of more than two hours in length. Being the first day of our circuit court, the number of persons present was unusually large. It had been predicted that this would be a dire evil day for the Democracy of Hardin; and the confident boasting of the whigs of the matchless eloquence of their champion, would have alarmed the uninitiated, had they not repaid implicit confidence in their principles, and been conscious that General Scott was the most vulnerable man ever before the Court for the presidency. The day came, and it was not the first time in the history of the whig party, that the vigor and success of the war had not quite come up to the lofty and sounding phrase of the manifesto.

It is true, Mr. Bell is one of the best whig orators in the State, and taking into consideration the cause he advocates, he made a very respectable speech. He is a gentleman of fine wit and good humor; but it was evident to every impartial listener, that he felt deeply the weakness of the cause he advocated. He is very ingenious in argument, and in evasive answers passed by my speaker I ever listened to.

Meological General Scott: for his great military achievements, and disclosed the astounding fact, hitherto unknown, that during the eventful administration of General Jackson, he (Gen. Scott) was "the power behind the throne greater than the throne itself," and that he was emphatically the master spirit who braved the threatening storm of nullification, and drove back its thunder and lightning into the waters of the Atlantic.

He was answered by Thomas D. Brown, Esq., hitherto a whig, who it is well known refused his support to the whig nominee for the presidency, on account of his equivocal position on the subject of the compromise. He is a very bold and fearless speaker, and entered into a very dignified and logical argument in regard to the relative claims of the two candidates for the presidency.

He charged that Gen. Scott had been vacillating and evasive on various great national questions; but more particularly with regard to the compromise—he proved that charge—and General Scott ever gave them in any responsible manner.

Being unable to do so, Mr. Bell replied by indulging in low witticisms and state anecdotes for the purpose of evading the issue.

He proved most conclusively (and Mr. Bell admitted it) that Gen. Pierce had been the advocate of the rights of the South, and of the compromise, at a time when no motive could have influenced his opinions, but an honest conviction of what was due to himself, to the constitution, and to his country.

Mr. Brown won for himself new laurels in his contest with Mr. Bell, and though perhaps not the equal of the latter in witticisms, ludicrous grimaces, and dissatisfactions of "the human face divine," yet on this occasion he made by far the most effective and successful effort—an effort which told with tremendous effect upon the audience, of which "like bread cast upon the waters, will be seen not many days hence."

There was great excitement during the discussion, and the applause of the crowd was frequent, loud and enthusiastic.

The Democracy here were aroused to a sense of their duty, and of their power, and their united voices will be heard in thunder tones at the election in November next, as some never-greeted the eyes of whigery in these parts before. I repeat that there was no doubt that the Democracy; many changes have already taken place, and many more are ready to renounce the party which has taken to its embrace the most disreputable and unstatesmanlike effort—an effort which told with tremendous effect upon the audience, of which "like bread cast upon the waters, will be seen not many days hence."

The news from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana, has struck terror and dismay to the hearts of the whigs, and silenced all their boasting and exhibition, no mortal ever saw before. For the lowest day of their doom is at hand, for the fruits of November will bring the coming season upon them.

SCOTT AND SEWARD.—According to all reports General Scott and W. H. Seward had a good time—a downright good time—riding around, and speaking, and fighting together at Auburn, New York, on Friday last. The Herald says, it is the first occasion on which Seward has presided at a dinner to his political friends, since his retirement last year.

The abolitionists and Bloomers, who went up full feather to see him, after they had effected the rescue and escape to Canada of the fugitive slave Jerry, from the officers of the law. This last exhibition was no doubt devised to secure the vote of the South. It looks like it!

NICHOLSVILLE, Oct. 19, 1852.

Messrs. HARTLEY & HURD:

Gentlemen:—On yesterday, being County Court day, a very large and respectable number of the people of Jessamine County were assembled, agreeably to appointment, by Henry C. Pindell, Esq., the assistant judge elect for this district, and that staunch democratic elector, Col. B. Taylor, of Lexington, and also that such democratic of Kentucky whig, James Harlan, Esq., of Frankfort.

Mr. Pindell is a young man of fine abilities, but as a debater he is nowhere, and as a Scott whig he is like all the scribe back quality that compose the leaders of his well-to-do brethren. Sinner and falsehood were the only weapons he used. Pierce was nobly. Pierce was around upon the compromise and Fugitive Slave Law, and above all he believed Pierce to be a FUGITIVE, and if elected, he believed he would fear all practical expedients that were at this moment fitting out in this country for the invasion of Cuba.

After he had finished his remarks, Col. B. Taylor took the stand and addressed the people in a speech of about two hours length, in which he overturned every falsehood uttered by his whig competitor, and proved clearly the truth of our gallant standard bearer.

The speech of Col. Taylor, in which he depicted in a clear and truthful light, the great principles and prospects of the Democracy, was received by the good people of this county with loud and hearty shouts. It abounded with sound arguments, and the democracy of Jessamine will long remember the gallant old editor of the Kentucky Statesman, for his able, manly and eloquent defence of the great leaders of the democratic party. The tribune which Col. Taylor paid to the conduct of Gen. Pierce whilst in Mexico, and the great and glorious principles of democratic men and measures, lit up the conscience of every democrat present, with the wildest enthusiasm.

In the conclusion of his remarks, he stated that the democratic party was emphatically the national party of the country. To prove this, he referred to the flag of our country, around which the democratic party always rally, whether in peace or in war. His comparison of the abilities of the candidates of the two parties, for the presidency, was such that I can truly say made every democrat feel proud of such a gallant leader as Gen. Frank Pierce.

After Col. Taylor had concluded his speech, and was on his way home, the "arch demagogue," James Harlan, attempted to reply to it, but I can assure you, the whole of Col. Taylor's speech remained unanswered. I was a Whig fifteen years before that was born. I never voted other than a Whig vote in my life. I, therefore, think that no new-born Whig, or "highly principled" man, should be so foolish as to read me out of the party.
